ORDER BELOW EXH. 1

The present application is filed under section 482 of BNSS for the offences under section 143, 223 r/w 3(5) of BNS & S. 3, 4, 5 of the Immoral Traffic (Prevention) Act, 1956.

2] It was submitted by the applicant that the informant filed false complaint against the present applicant. He is law abiding citizen and is having no criminal antecedents. The entire FIR reveals that the applicants are mechanically and malafidely dragged into alleged crime without any specific allegation regarding their participation in the alleged incident. There is no recovery at the instance of the present applicant. The applicant is the partner in the hotel. He was not present at the time of incident. His name was taken by the co-accused. There is only one victim and therefore the offence registered against the applicant is not made out. He is ready to abide by the conditions. Hence, application be allowed.

3] The Investigating officer filed say through learned APP and opposed the application on the ground that the offence is serious in nature. Another co-accused regular bail was rejected. The role of the present applicant is equivalent to other absconding accused. The offence is serious in nature. The applicant is avoiding his arrest and is absconding. The presence of applicant would be required for investigation and hence application be rejected.

5] Heard learned advocate for applicant and learned APP at length.

8] The perusal of FIR prima-facie shows that a specific role is attributed to the present applicants in the FIR. However, at this stage it seems that the offence is serious in nature. The investigation would be required. It was submitted by learned APP that the amount has been deposited in the account of the applicant. The applicant committed the offence for financial gain. Considering the nature of offence, the custodial interrogation of the applicant would be required for investigation purposes. The applicant if released on anticipatory bail may try to evade the investigation, causing hindrance in the investigation. Hence, it would not be appropriate to grant anticipatory bail, I therefore, proceed to pass the following order.
