

Order dt.06.04.2026.

Today is fixed for hearing of show cause application filed by the complainant.

Accused persons are represented by their Ld. Counsel.

Complainant is absent on repeated calls.

It appears from the record that the complainant was directed to file show cause vide order dated 28.10.2025. Thereafter, on 23.12.2025 the complainant by way of put up filed his show cause application and the said application was fixed for hearing. On the date fixed for hearing i.e on 29.12.2025 the complainant was again absent and the matter was fixed today for hearing, however, the complainant is absent today as well.

From his show cause application it transpires that he has again narrated the facts and allegation of his case and that on 28.10.2025 he had applied for police protection for the date fixed on 07.11.2025 for the Hon'ble High Court at Calcutta but the same was not provided and as such he was not able to come on 07.11.2025 without police protection.

From the entire four corners of the show cause application the complainant has not explained or given any cogent ground for him being absent on 28.10.2025 and for not being able to appear on next date for reason of not having police protection for the perceived threat to his person, is not at all reasonable as he had appeared before this Court without any police protection whatsoever.

As the complainant is absent on date fixed including today and has not yet explained his show cause application, the complainant has failed to substantiate his cogent grounds for accepting the show cause application.

Considering the entire factual aspect of the matter in hand and the fact that the instant case is pending since 11.10.2022 and till date the matter has not progressed at all, the show cause application of the complainant is rejected.

Accordingly, the instant case is dismissed for default.

Note in relevant register.
