Cross examination by Sri.KPR learned counsel for respondent :-

I know about the chief examination affidavit filed by me before this court. I have not seen the accident. My husband was aged 40 years on the date of accident. The vehicle was belonging to my husband on the date of accident. The vehicle bearing No.KA-07-EJ-0058 was belonging to my husband. I came to know that my husband met with an accident and a lorry hit against him. It is false to suggest that accident had occurred due to negligent act of my husband. My husband was possessing valid driving license on the date of accident. I do not know that the vehicle of my husband was insured. In the policy itself there is liability of personal claim of Rs.15 lakhs in case of any road traffic accident. It is false to suggest that though I have received personal claim in respect of vehicle of my husband from Iffco Tokiyo company I have filed present claim petition making double claim. It is false to suggest that my husband was not doing Agarabati business on the date of accident. It is false to suggest that my husband was not getting Rs.1,50,000/- from agriculture. It is false to suggest that my husband was not doing agrabathi business and agriculture to claim compensation I am deposing falsely. It is false to suggest that the accident had occurred due to the negligent act of my husband and not due to negligent act of driver of lorry, to claim compensation I am deposing falsely. It is false to suggest that my husband was not possessing valid driving license and I am deposing falsely. It is false to suggest that by colluding with police false case is filed against the driver lorry by creating documents.
