

Case called out before Lok Adalath.

Both parties and their respective counsels are present and filed application U/o. XXIII rule 3 of CPC. The contents of the petition is read over to the parties. They admitted the terms and conditions of the petition and they have submitted they have no objections to record the same.

This court has perused the contents of the petition it does not appear to be filed under coercion or undue influence and same is voluntary and if, the parties are permitted to compromise the matter in terms of petition, it will not affect anybody's right.

They have put their signatures to the compromise petition.

ORDER

Application U/O XXIII rule 3 of CPC is hereby accepted.

Suit of the plaintiff is hereby decreed in terms of compromise petition.

Draw decree as per compromise petition.

Non-Judicial
Conciliator

Judicial
Conciliator