GROUND

A. The petitioner/accused innocent person, he has nothing to do with alleged offences and complainant filed false complaint, the facts stated in the complaint can not be attracted Sec.329(4), 74, 115(2), 352, 351(2) and 109 of BNS can not be attracted.

B. The alleged offences are punishable with death or imprisonment for life, there is no prima-facie case, and petitioner residing within the limits of this court having movable and immovable properties, the petitioner is in JC from 26.04.2026.

C. The petitioner is ready and willing to abide by any conditions which may be imposed by this court.

3. Ld. PP has filed objection stating that the fact of the prosecution case as already extracted supra, further Ld PP submitted in the objection that, the accused person has committed heinous offence on innocent woman, if accused person is released on the bail there is every chances of tampering prosecution witness and destroying material object and petitioner will not co-operate in IO, and there is every chance of absconding of accused person, investigation is going on and with this the Ld PP prayed for rejection of bail petition.

4. Heard on both sides. Along with petition, the petitioner has produced document, certified copy of FIR with complaint and certified copy of remand sheet, remand order and order sheet.

5. I have perused the contents of petition, grounds stated in the petition, objection filed by learned PP and also considered the arguments canvassed by the learned counsel for the parties and perused the same. On perusal of the same the points that would arise for determination are as follows;

POINT NO.1: Whether the petition filed under section 483 of BNSS Act, is deserves to be allowed at this stage ?

POINT NO.2: What order ?

6. My findings to the above points are as follows;

Point No.1 : in the Affirmative.

Point No.2 : As per the final order, for the following ;

REASONS

7. POINT NO.1: it is well settled law that the court cannot go into the merits and demerits of the case while deciding the bail petition. What court has to looked into in deciding bail petition is that, the nature and seriousness of the case, severity of the offence, chance of absconding of the accused during trial, tampering of prosecution witnesses and possibility of repetition of same crime and gravity of the accusation and antecedents of the accused.

8. On careful scrutiny of facts stated in the complaint, material placed before the court, and documents produced with petition, it is the clear that, there is no prima-facie case, it is specifically stated in the complaint that, his mother as not sustained any injury and on account of which, he has not taken his mother to hospital, no injury sustained by the complainant's mother, under these circumstances, at this stage, there is no prime-facie case, it is fit case to grant bail, the apprehension of state is that if accused person is released on bail, he will tamper the prosecution witness and he will not co-operate with IO, and investigation will hamper, can be taken care by imposing reasonable conditions. Looking to the facts circumstances of the case, at this stage, I am of the opinion that, petitioner/accused is entitle for bail. I answer this point in the Affirmative.

9. POINT NO: 2: In view of the finding on Point No.1, I proceed to pass the following;
