

MHAU080003282017.

Civil M.A.No.21/2017.
Latikabai Vs. State Bank of Hyderabad.

ORDER BELOW EXH.1.

1. Perused the record of the case and rozanama. Applicant and her Ld. advocate are absent though called repeatedly today. It appears from the rozanama that, applicant and her Ld. advocate are absent continuously. Today, applicant and her advocate called out repeatedly till today, but no one appeared. Hence, no purpose would be served to keep the application ineffective and stale on the record.

2. The present application is 8 years old and ineffective. Considering the direction given by the Hon'ble High Court regarding preferably dispose off the old pending matters as per action plan. Perused the record it reveals that, dated 20.02.2026 the Court has given direction to the applicant that, takes the effective steps to proceed with the matter on next date otherwise adverse order has been passed against her. Though, today applicant and her advocate are absent and not taken effective steps towards proceed with the matter. It appears that, applicant is not interested in proceeding with the application effectively and the application is unreasonably pending due to want of effective proceeding on the part of applicant. Considering the absence of applicant today before this Court, the application is liable to be dismissed for default. Hence, I pass following order,

ORDER

The application is dismissed for default.
