In various rulings, it is held that the amendment can be allowed, if it is essential for deciding controversy between the parties and the same is not changing nature of the case. The proposed amendment will not change the nature. Hence, it can be allowed.

3. It is contention of the non-applicant that the paper showing previous name is already published. Therefore, after it, the amendment cannot be allowed. In that case, I find that the second publication can be allowed. Merely on this objection, the application cannot be rejected. Hence, the following order :-
