

ORDER BELOW EXH.01 IN RCC 43/2022

It is the application seeking investigation vide Sec.156(3) of Code of Criminal Procedure,1973 or issuance of process against all accused in respect of the allegations made in application.

02. Heard. Perused the record. It is contention of applicant that non-applicants are indulged in the malpractice and misbehaving under the colour of their office being government servants. It has been specifically alleged that the revenue authorities are hand in glove with the accused persons in commission of the theft. Applicant made correspondance with revenue authorities about foul play committed by the non-applicant but invain. Lastly he was constrained to file application before the Court for ventilating his grievance.

03. Before entering into the allegations made by the applicant, his status has to be considered. It is specifically mentioned that applicant is social worker and he is indulged in social welfare. After going through the entire allegations one fact specifically arises that applicant has no way in concerned with the alleged process.

04. Applicant has layed his hand on the documents which might be obtained under RTI. It would be out of place to mention that misuse of RTI is very common now-a-days. Documents obtained in RTI are used to blackmail.

05. As every coin has two sides, one is useful and other is flipside which is not useful but misused by the people. The purpose behind acquiring the information is not always to dispense the things inform of the administrative machinery to give it speed but sometime it is malaise the department, person of very high stature in the government organization. In the absence of any valid ground to make allegations in respect of recruitment process, application for seeking relief to investigate the process is not maintainable. Moreover, authorities are constituted by government wherein allegations made by the applicant could be entertained. If the alternative relief through authority is available the doors of the court should not be knocked harphazardly. In light of above observation , following order:-
