

R.C.A. No. 133/2022
CNR No.MHWR010016122022
Sneha Vs. Chetan
Order below Exh.1

I heard learned advocate Swapnil K. Fulzele for the appellant. Respondent could not be served with notice personally. Time and again notices are sent to the respondent, but on two occasions in July 2023 and September 2024 his father refused to accept the notices stating that his son the respondent was not residing with him. Thereafter on third occasion in November 2024 the notice sent to affix at his house, but his father did not allow the Bailiff to affix the notice of the respondent at his house. The notice sent to the respondent on his address shown in the petition filed before the trial court, in October 2024 returned unserved with endorsement that he was not residing there. Afterwards the notice of the respondent came to be published in daily Lokmat dt. 07-11-2024 vide Exh.19, but he has not appeared before this court which is deemed service upon the respondent who is avoiding to get personal service of the notice.

Therefore, the appeal to be heard ex-parte against him. Appeal admitted. Call R. & P..
