ORDER BELOW EXH NO.22

Perused the application and say filed by the respondent vide Exh. 27. Heard learned Advocate for the respondent and applicant.

2] By virtue of present application it is prayed by the respondent that hearing of the matter be adjourned till receipt of R & P.

3] Admittedly record and proceeding will be required at the time of final adjudication of the main application. But, that would not preclude the Court from hearing interim application i.e. stay application because relief sought in the main application and stay application is entirely different. So also, parameters applicable while deciding main application and interim application are also entirely different. If hearing of stay application is deferred till receipt of R & P then the entire purpose of filing stay application will be defeated. Hence, I am inclined to pass the following order.

ORDER

- 1] Call R & P and matter is posted for hearing on Stay application on the next date.
- 2] Even if R & P is not received, on next day the hearing on stay application will proceed and it will not be deferred till receipt of R & P.
