Alucopanel Industries vs. JMD Enterprises

03.08.2026

Present: Sh. Sanjay Kumar, Ld. Counsel for the plaintiff along with AR of the plaintiff.
Sh. Shreyash Jain, Ld. Counsel for all the defendants on VC.

There are all together three defendants. Defendant no. 1 is a partnership firm and defendants no. 2 and 3 are partners of defendant no. 1. Defendants have chosen to file three separate written statements, one for defendant no. 1, other for defendant no. 2 and other for defendant no. 3. Contents thereof are exactly same. This court is unable to understand and appreciate as to why defendants have chosen to file separate written statements when it could be done with the one. This court apprehends malafide intention on the part of the defendants to complicate the things.

Ld. Counsel for the defendants submits that there is no such intention and he apologies on behalf of the defendants having chosen to file three written statements.

Be that as it may, the blame squarely do not rest on the defendants only as it is also mistake of counsel who chosen to file three written statements. The duty of the counsel is to assist the court but not to complicate the things. Even if defendants chosen to file separate written statements, the call should have been taken by the counsel to not file three separate written statements so as to simplify the things. With this strong disapproval, this court accepts the written statement. Copies thereof have already been supplied to Ld. Counsel for the plaintiff who seeks time to file replication.

Ld. Counsel for the defendants submits that defendants have also filed counter claim, however, the record shows that no counter claim has been filed.

Ld. Counsel for the defendant submits that he would check with the registry.

Cost of Rs.9,000/- is stated to have already been paid on 30.05.2026 which is confirmed by Ld. Counsel for the plaintiff.

Put up for further proceedings on 21.09.2026.
