

Order No. 08 dt. 20.02.25

Today is fixed for filing requisites by the petitioner.

Petitioner has filed her hazira.

One amendment petition has been filed on this day by the petitioner which is now taken up for hearing.

Ld Advocate for the Petitioner by virtue of petition filed under Order 6 Rule 17 CPC prayed for amending the plaint filed by the petitioner in this case as the petitioner is unable to serve the notice of this suit upon the respondent at his known residential permanent address as he is intentionally avoiding to receive the same. He prayed for amending the cause title of the plaint and insertion of the present address therein in order to serve the summons of this suit to the respondent at his temporary address in Boro Maji Para P.O. & P.S. Singur, District Hooghly.

Heard both the sides. Perused the petition and instant record. Considered.

It is apparent that the proposed correction is formal in nature and would not affect the nature and character of the instant suit as the crux of the matter is that the petitioner is praying for divorce which remains the same even after incorporating the above change in the plaint. As such, the amendment petition filed under Order 6 Rule 17 of the C.P.C. with the proposed amendment is hereby allowed.

The petitioner is directed to file the amended plaint on the next date.

To 10.6.2025 for filing of amended plaint by the petitioner.
