

Title Suit 183 of 2025

Order No.2 dated 08.12.2025

Today the record is placed before me by way of put up which is allowed.

Ld. Advocate for the plaintiffs moves the petition for an order of ad interim injunction U/O 39 Rule 1 and 2 read with section 151 CPC.

No caveat is pending in this case as per the report of the Sheristadar.

Ld. Advocate for the plaintiffs files some documents by firsti. Xerox copies of the documents are with the record.

Now, let us consider whether on the basis of the statement made on affidavit by the plaintiffs and the documents filed by him, an order of ad interim injunction as prayed for can be granted at this stage prior to the issuance of notice upon the defendant against whom the said prayer of ad interim injunction is made.

Heard the Ld. Advocate. Perused the said injunction petition, plaint and documents filed by the plaintiffs and considered.

Now, the record is taken up for passing order.

This is a suit for declaration and injunction.

-: Case of the plaintiffs :-

The case of the plaintiffs in a nutshell is that the plaintiff No. 1 gifted the schedule suit property to the plaintiff No. 2, his son by virtue of registered deed of gift and also transferred some portion of the suit property by virtue of the settlement deed in favour of plaintiff No. 2. The proforma defendant are also the joint owners along with the plaintiffs in respect of the Kha schedule suit property. Now the defendant No. 1 having no right, title, interest over the schedule suit property and trying to disturb the peaceful possession of the plaintiff. Hence the plaintiffs have come before the Court with folded hands for grant of temporary injunction by restraining the defendant No.1 from changing the nature and character, forcible dispossessing of the plaintiffs, obstruction in the peaceful possession of the plaintiffs in respect of the suit property.

DECISION WITH REASONS

After considering the situation and the documents, this court is of the opinion that the plaintiffs have able to prove their right, title, interest over the schedule suit property .

At this stage the plaintiffs have able to show a good prima facie case in its favour having its merits to go into the trial and the balance of convenience and inconvenience is lying in favour of the plaintiffs. If an ad interim order is not passed at this stage, it may cause irreparable loss to the plaintiffs and the purpose of granting injunction may be defeated by delay.

Thus, considering the above facts this Court is of the opinion that the ad interim is allowed in the form of status quo thereby directing both the parties to maintain status quo in respect of the suit property. Such status quo is necessary to protect the property and for the ends of justice.

Hence, it is

O R D E R E D

That the present application U/O 39 Rule 1 and 2 read with section 151 CPC for ad interim injunction be and the same is hereby allowed at this stage in the form of status quo.

Both the parties, the plaintiffs and defendant No. 1 are hereby directed to maintain status quo with regard to the nature, character and activities as on this day in respect of the schedule suit property.

So the ad interim is allowed till 08.01.2026 in the form of status quo.

Issue notice upon the defendant No. 1 to call upon them to show cause within 15 days from the receipt of such notice as to why the prayer of the plaintiffs for an order of temporary injunction shall not be granted.
