R E A S O N S

As to point No.1 :

6. The prosecution attributes the role of the applicant about he initiated the said dispute which culminated causing injury to the informant and others. Accordingly, the applicant is found aggressor in the present crime. However, the injured is discharged from the hospital after completing the medical treatment. There is no accusation against the present applicant as to he had caused any injury to the informant or any other person. In-fact, one accused Ashish had slashed on the head of the informant. The accusation against present applicant was minor in nature as he had beaten with waist belt to the informant. The main objection of the Investigating Officer is to seize the said waist belt from the present applicant appears to be sustainable. However, such recovery does not justify denial of anticipatory bail. Therefore, he is entitled for grant of anticipatory bail of course with some conditions. Accordingly, I answer point No.1 in the affirmative.
