Rule returnable on 05.05.2026.

This Court has heard learned advocates for the respective parties on the issue of interim relief.

Upon perusal of the investigation papers, the only material available on record against the petitioner is to the effect that on a day prior to the incident, the petitioner who is practicing advocate visited the office of the Sub-Registrar and had asked for the very document which have been allegedly stolen.

Learned advocate appearing for the petitioner has drawn the attention of this Court to the reply received under the provisions of Right to Information Act which indicates that the documents in question had been destroyed due to flood.

Having regard to these facts, interim relief in terms of Para-12(c) is granted till then.
