The learned Senior Counsel for the plaintiffs submitted that the settlement process is going on peacefully and that the parties have evinced interest in settling the issues between themselves amicably. He requested a short accommodation to fructify the process and to report settlement.

2. However, the learned counsel for the defendants submitted that despite talks for settlement, the status has not progressed as expected by the defendants. The defendants have concern regarding the pending injunction order, which has been in force for nearly 11 years. The learned counsel further submitted that the defendants are concerned about their voting rights, which are being enjoined in view of the order already passed by this Court.

3. In such circumstances, the parties are directed to give priority to the above issue and proceed to settle the remaining differences in due course.

4. With these observations, further accommodation is granted for a period of four weeks.
