COMMON ORDER

It is brought to the notice of this Court that earlier the tender the drawings normally provided by the respondent. However, the conditions have now been changed only to accommodate certain vested interest. Though the tender is only for a sum of Rs.1.94 lakhs, works to the tune of Rs.5 Crores have been awarded. However, no work has been allotted so far under the present tender.

2. Further, it is the contention of the petitioner in both the petition that the officer concerned was originally relieved from the said place and has once again been brought back to the same place for the purpose of allotting tenders.

3. On perusal of the records, it is seen that the earlier bid qualification clearly mandated prior experience in mechanical or operational works.

4. However, the said conditions are conspicuously absent in the latest qualification criteria. Instead, a new condition has been imposed, whereby the bidder is required to upload the drawing himself, without the drawing being prepared or provided by the respondent.
