Tarlok Singh Chauhan, C.J.(Oral)

1. Learned counsel for the petitioner states that the instant writ petition has rendered infructuous with the efflux of time and, moreover, the writ petitioner has also died.
2. Accordingly, the instant writ petition is disposed of as being infructuous.
3. However, it is made clear that in case the legal heirs of the writ petitioner have any subsisting/surviving claim, they are at liberty to avail such remedy as available to them under the law.
