1. Petitioner has preferred this Criminal Writ Petition (Parole) seeking permanent parole.
2. It is contended by learned counsel for the petitioner that prayer for permanent parole was declined on the pretext that petitioner has not availed three regular paroles. It has been further contended that petitioner was released on first regular parole for 20 days by the Parole Committee. He never misused the liberty of parole and on completion of the parole period, he surrendered before the concerned authority in time. During incarceration, the conduct of the petitioner has remained good. Therefore, he prays for release the petitioner on permanent parole.

3. Counsel for the petitioner has placed reliance upon Suresh & Ors. vs. State of Rajasthan, 2011(3) WLC 643 and Suraj Giri vs State of Rajasthan & Ors., 2011 Criminal Law Journal-1534.

4. Learned Additional Govt. Advocate has opposed the writ petition(parole).

5. I have considered the contentions.

6. Petitioner has remained in custody for a period of more than four years, the only ground on which his application was rejected is that he has not availed three regular paroles.

7. In the judgments relied upon by counsel for petitioner the facts are akin to the present case, therein also, application for permanent parole was allowed, thus, I deem it proper to allow the present writ petition(parole).

8. Thus, Criminal Writ Petition (Parole) is allowed. The order dated 16.01.2026 passed by the Superintendent Central Jail, Alwar is quashed and set aside. The concerned Jail Authorities are directed to release the petitioner on permanent parole, subject to furnishing his personal bond of Rs.50,000/- with two sureties of like amount to the satisfaction of the Superintendent Central Jail, Alwar with the stipulation that in case during permanent parole, the petitioner commits any undesirable activity, he can be called upon to serve his remaining sentence and at the same time he shall also maintain peace and tranquility during the parole period and will abide by any other condition imposed by the authority.
