Order

05/08/2024

Learned counsel for the respondent would submit that while taking cognizance, learned Single Judge has issued extensive directions which are not of interim nature, but are final and now nothing is left to be done by the Division Bench except to execute the order passed by the learned Single Judge taking cognizance.

Having gone through the various directions, we find that the learned Single Judge seems to have passed a detailed order in the matter and directions would not appear to be of interim nature though termed as interim nature appear to be an order of final nature. Therefore, these orders are not being continued henceforth.

learned counsels for the respondents are directed to file their response within a period of four weeks.

This case be listed after four weeks for consideration of issues, which have been raised and the subject on which cognizance has been taken by the learned Single Judge.
