1. The contention of counsel for petitioner is that the averments made in the complaint give rise to offence of cognizable nature, hence the Judicial Magistrate ought to have sent the complaint for registering the FIR and for further investigation, but instead Judicial Magistrate recorded statements of complainant and his witnesses and then issued notices to the accused persons in order to extend opportunity of hearing in view of Section 223 of the BNSS, 2023.
2. It has submitted that the next date in the matter before the trial Court is 03.12.2025 and till date, no adverse order against the petitioner in criminal complaint has been passed and appropriate orders by the Judicial Magistrate, after extending hearing to the accused persons, is yet to be passed.
3. Counsel for petitioner is permitted to make a prayer before the concerned Judicial Magistrate to fix the matter on an early date and pass appropriate orders in furtherance to the proceedings already commenced.
4. List the matter after four weeks.
