We have heard learned counsel for the parties.

Without expressing any opinion on the merits of the allegations and the counter allegations made, lest they should prejudice the trial, which is yet to take place, we think that it will be convenient for the parties and in the interest of justice if the petition under Section 13, Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 filed by the respondent and pending at Mumbai is directed to be transferred to a Court at Delhi.

Regretfully, we place on record that inspite of the efforts made by learned counsel for both the parties, the parties have not agreed to settle their differences.

The transfer petition is allowed.

It is directed that HMA Petition No.A-264 of 2001, titled Shri Deepak Nanda Vs. Smt. Vandana Nanda, pending@@ in the Family Court, Bandra, Mumbai shall stand transferred

The District Judge, Delhi shall try the petition himself or make it over for trial to a competent court within his jurisdiction. The Court shall proceed with the hearing and decision of the suit expeditiously.

No order as to costs.
