O R D E R

1. Heard Ms. V. Mohana, the learned senior counsel appearing for the appellants.
2. The principal argument of the learned senior counsel is that there is no problem in going for mediation. However, the High Court ought not to have disposed of the Company Appeals saying that since the parties have agreed to go for mediation the appeals are no longer required to be heard on merits.
3. She further submitted that ultimately if the mediation fails, her clients will be left with no other option, or rather, no other legal remedy would be available with them.

5. Dasti service, in addition, is permitted.
6. In the meantime, the mediation may proceed as directed by the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal, Chennai.
