Heard learned counsel for the parties.

On perusal of the judgment under challenge and other relevant papers on record and on consideration of the contentions raised by the learned counsel for the parties we are of the view that no interference with the concurrent judgments of the courts below is called for in exercise of jurisdiction under Article 136 of the Consitution. The special leave petition is dismissed.

Then the learned counsel for the petitioner urged that some reasonable time may be granted to the petitioner to make alternate arrangements for his residence. Considering the said submissions it is rendered that the petitioner will hand over vacant possession of the premises to the respondent on or before 31st October, 2001, subject to the condition that he shall file an undertaking on usual terms within three weeks from today and he shall not induct any third party on the premises.
